

Quarterly Performance Review

u ethical Australian Equities Trust - Wholesale

Quarterly highlights June 2024

- Inflation and interest rate expectations continued to be the focus of investors during the quarter, but the optimism of the March quarter gave way to concerns that rates will likely be higher for longer. As a result, the ASX-300 Accumulation Index declined 1.2% in the June quarter.
- The total return for the Trust over the quarter was -2.1%, underperforming the ASX 300 Accumulation Index by 0.9%.
- Good stock selection was the key driver of performance for the first nine months of the financial year, but this reversed in the June quarter and was the key driver of the June quarter underperformance.
- Towards the end of the quarter, we added Seek Limited and Cleanaway. We also reduced holdings in a number of stocks, including Ramsay Healthcare, Charter Hall and Sandfire Resources.

Market commentary

Global equity markets finished the June quarter slightly higher after pulling back in April. Contributing to this was global inflation trending lower and some central banks starting easing cycles.

We saw a divergence in monetary policy with the European Central Bank (ECB) cutting interest rates, while the Federal Reserve maintained its target at 5.25-5.50% for almost 12 months. However, US economic indicators weakened with Q1 GDP growth, retail sales, and recent employment figures below expectations, providing optimism that interest rates would be cut later this year. Geopolitical tensions and elections in developed economies added to uncertainty over the global outlook.

In Australia, inflation remained above target levels with the annual trimmed mean rising to 4.4% in May and the services component remaining elevated. While we saw a drop in job vacancies, the unemployment rate remained low at 4.0%. The Reserve Bank of Australia (RBA) has maintained the cash rate at 4.35% since November, although there is an increased likelihood the next move will be a hike depending on upcoming unemployment and inflation data.

While corporate earnings growth was robust, outlook statements were more cautious. The US equities rally this year has been driven by technology stocks, with other sectors facing more headwinds. We continue to see global equity valuations as stretched, given high earnings growth expectations and slowing economic growth.

Portfolio commentary

The Trust delivered a total return of -2.1% in the June quarter, underperforming the market by 0.9% due to stock selection, partially offset by good sector allocation.

The Australian equities market continues to look expensive with optimistic earnings growth factored into expectations. With upcoming company financial year results and increasing US election news flow impacting global markets, we expect share price volatility to increase in the September quarter. As a result, the portfolio is overweight insurers, healthcare, supermarkets and telcos, while being underweight banks, and the consumer discretionary sector.

Towards the end of the quarter, we added Seek Limited, as we expect job ad volumes to stabilize over time. We also added Cleanaway following its solid outlook and acquisition of bolt-on infrastructure which should deliver network benefits in the medium term.

We reduced holdings in a number of stocks, including Ramsay Healthcare where new French private hospital tariffs were disappointing, Charter Hall and Sandfire Resources positions were also reduced following good share price performance.
